

Where Are You?

MATERIALS LIST:

1. Sound source to indicate starting pitches—such as a bell, piano, or recorded tone.
2. Lots of great hiding places!

Creating music learning moments for your little ones are as easy as a fun game of hide and seek! But in Tuneville, we do it slightly differently. Instead of looking for the person who is hiding, you must listen for their song. This call and response game is a great way to reinforce the tonal patterns “Do - Mi” and “Mi - Do”

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Parent starts off as the Seeker and all children hide. (Close your eyes!)
2. The Seeker starts to walk around looking for the Hiders while singing: “Where is Name of Child?” “Where is Name of Child?” with the tones, “Do-Do-Mi; Do-Do-Mi.”
3. When the Seeker gets close to the Hider, the Hider jumps out and sings: “Here I Am. Here I Am,” with the tones, “Mi-Mi-Do; Mi-Mi-Do.” Once all Hiders have been found, someone else takes the Seeker role and the game is played again.
4. Each child gets a chance to be the Seeker.

-tone REFERENCE:

“Do” (D above middle C, listen on website)

“Mi” (F# above middle C, listen on website)

TIP: Finding fun ways to practice performing tonal patterns helps shy or unsure children to actively participate.
